The Nature of Theatre, The Theatre of Nature© with Megan Ruth Baxter

Explore the power of sacred theatre. Participants uncover their individual stories as they are connected to the story of the earth and the cosmic universe. The discovery of our core story is essential in the context of theatre. We awaken ourselves to deep ecology within the sacred circle and build relationships in a place of safety. Each person is honored in their inherent wisdom. As we release old narratives, new inspiration emerges.

Megan Ruth Baxter is an eco theatre artist, storyteller, playwright, poet and healing arts practitioner originally from Canada. Her development as a writer, director began to merge with healing arts and ecology in 1989 in Vancouver, Canada while working in film and theatre with indigenous communities. She has offered sacred eco theatre around the world and currently resides in North Georgia with her daughter.
